Compare Square Register to RetailEdge POS

Pre-Sales & Buying Guides · https://retailedge.com/docs/compare-square-register-to-retailedge-pos

RetailEdge is Developed for Retail

RetailEdge is developed by retailers to provide powerful features that many different types of retailers need to run their businesses. Square Register is developed by a merchant service aggregator that provides the free software to get your credit card processing business.

Processing Costs

Square's processing costs might sound good at first and if you are a micro-business doing only a few sales a day, Square is an inexpensive way to take credit cards for those sales you normally might not be able to process. However, if you start doing any kind of volume 2.75%/transaction can be expensive. The flat rate makes it easy to understand, but not necessarily the best deal. We offer a choice of credit card processors that should always give you the lowest rates. In addition, RetailEdge includes features like loyalty programs, gift cards and gift registry with no additional fees.

US Based Live Technical Support

Square offers almost no live customer support for merchants. Can your business afford to be down while you wait for a response from your web submission? If you have hardware issues, software problems, or billing disputes you might be waiting awhile.

RetailEdge's Data is Local

RetailEdge is designed to allow businesses to continue to ring in sales even when disconnect from the internet. With features like RetailEdge Island and our multi-location synchronization engine RECON you have affordable options run your business remotely and scale as you need. Another advantage, of local data is that there is no risk of us shutting down your business as rules change (like Square with CBD Businesses). Your data is yours and you don't have to worry about all of a sudden not being supported by your POS company. This affects all types of businesses from Cannabis to convenience stores.

More hardware options

With more hardware options, you can pick and choose what hardware works best for your business. With devices that are retail hardened to deal with harsh retail environment. The square device that plugs into the headphone jack would snap in about 10 minutes in most retail environments RetailEdge handles every day.

Lower Starting Costs

Ok RetailEdge is not free. So the cost is a little more to get started. And there are businesses that should consider the Square Register. If you have limited sales, no inventory needs, and want a quick way to get going, Square Register might be for you. But if you want a serious retail application for your business then RetailEdge is going be a more powerful lower cost option in the long run.</li Download the program today and see for yourself.